POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follow, viz:-

... 1d. ... 1½d. ... 2d. ... 2½d. ... 3d. ... 3½d. ... 4d. 4 oz. 6 oz. 10 oz., and less than 12 oz.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

GENERAL POSTAL UNION.

In accordance with the provisions of an international treaty concluded at Berne in 1876, the whole of the States of Europe, the United States of America, and Egypt formed themselves into a General Postal Union for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence, and agree to adopt low and uniform rates of correspondence dispatched from one State of the Union to another. These provisions extend to letters, post eards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns of merchandise, and legal and commercial documents.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN LETTERS.

The rates of postage on letters to the colonies and foreign countries will be found in the British Postal Guide.

To some countries prepayment of the postage is compulsory. In other cases the whole of the postage cannot be prepaid.

A letter posted unpaid, or paid only in part, directed to go by a route by which prepayment is compulsory, is sent to the Returned Letter Office, to go back to the writer, unless there is another route by which prepayment is not required, in which case the letter is sent by the latter route. Letters, however, for Australia and New Zealand, if prepaid as much as one rate (even though the prepayment be insufficient), are not detained, but are forwarded charged with the deficient postage and an additional rate.

A letter posted insufficiently prepaid for a place to which prepayment is optional is sent forward charged; the value of the stamps, however, being, as a rule, taken into account.

The same rates are chargeable in this country upon unpaid or insufficiently paid letters received from the above-named places.

No letter for any colony or foreign country may be above two feet in length or one foot in width or depth.

Letters, &c., for Brazil, Montevideo, Peru, Bolivia, and Chili, if specially directed "By Supplementary Mail, via Bordeaux," and posted in time for dispatch from London by the Day Mail of Friday, will in due course overtake, at Bordeaux, the packet dispatched from Liverpool on the previous Wednesday.

Wednesday,
Letters for such places in Turkey and Asia Minor as have no Austrian Letters for such places in Turkey and Asia Minor as have no Austrian post office should be addressed to the care of an agent residing in the nearest port at which an Austrian post office has been established. Letters for places on the Persian Gulf are forwarded viâ Bombay, if specially directed by that route and prepaid the rates of postage for Bombay. Letters for Russia should have the name of the town added in either English, French, or German; and they should bear as a part of their address the name of the province or government in which they are situated. In addressing all letters, &c., for Russia the name of the place of destination, as well as the government in which such place is situated, must be correctly given; and, further, the address must be plainly written. If these conditions be not complied with, the Russian Post Office declines to undertake the delivery of the correspondence.

No letters containing gold or silver money, jewels, or precious articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, can be sent, even if registered, to any country of the General Postal Union.

INLAND BOOK POST.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 20z. or part of that weight.
A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.
A book packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, photographs (when not on glass or in cases containing glass or any like substance), drawings, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, or any other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing upon; and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written, engraved, lithographed, or plain, or any mixture of these. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, &c., or of a portion thereof, is allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books, pens, or pencils, in the case of pocket-books, &c.; and, in short, whatever, is necessary for the safe transmission of such articles, or usually appertains thereto, but the binding, rollers, &c., must not be sent as a separate packet.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth.

Whatever is allowed to be sent in an inland book-packet may be sent in a book-packet to places abroad, except that water-colour drawings are not allowed to be sent in a book-packet to rance or Algeria.

No writing or manuscript mark, however, beyond the name and address of the person to whom it is sent is admissible in or upon a packet forwarded via France to the Argentine Confederation, Bolivia, Chili, Ecnador, Hayti, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, St. Thomas, Uruguay, United States of Colombia, or Venezuela.

INLAND CARD POST.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

Foreign post-cards may be send to Canada and to all the countries comprised in the General Postal Union, with the exception of British India.

The postage of a card is in every case one half the rate for a single letter, Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 14d, each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to the majority of the countries of the Union without extra charge. without extra charge.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

1. Persons wishing to send parcels to any part of British India can do so through the Indian Parcel Post Agency—established under authority of the Director-General of the Post Office of India—at 122, Leadenhall-street, E.C.; and (Branch Office) at 25, Cockspur-street, S.W.

2. The charge for parcels is is, per lb. or fraction of a lb. (prepayment optional), covering transit from London to destination in India. Insurance may be effected, if desired, at the rate (to be prepaid) of 1s. up to £3 value, 2s. 6d. up to £10 value, and 5s. up to £20 value. Indian Customs duty (if chargeable) will be realised from the addressee.

N.B.—Parcels containing books, or articles treated as books under the British Inland Book Post Rules, will be charged at half rates—viz., 6d. per lb.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

There is a Pattern and Sample Post to certain colonies and foreign puntries, but it is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of countries.

countries, but it is restricted to bona fine trade patterns or samples or merchandise.

Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be), or any articles sent by one private individual to another which are not actually patterns or samples, are not admissible. The rates of postage are the same as for Book Packets.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS AND INSURANCE.

There is a Post Office Savings Bank in every town and in most villages, and at most savings banks there is an Insurance and Annuity Office. A list of them is kept at all post offices.

of them is kept at all post offices.

LETTERS "TO BE CALLED FOR."

There is a Poste Restante both at the General Post Office, St. Martin's-le-Grand, and at the Charing-cross Post Office, where letters "to be called for" can be obtained between the hours of nine a.m. and five p.m. There is also a Poste Restante at Woolwich, available during the ordinary hours of business. No letters (except communications from the Savings Bank Department) are taken in "to be called for" at the other district or branch offices, and any so directed are sent to the Returned Letter Office to be returned to the writers.

The Poste Restante being intended solely for the accommodation of strangers and travellers who have no permanent abode in London, letters for residents must not be addressed to the Post Office "to be called for;" and any letters for a resident so addressed, although delivered at the Post Office for one week, are, after that time, sent out by the letter carriers. Even strangers are not, as a rule, allowed to use the Poste Restante for more than two months; and the end of which time they are expected to have their letters sent to a private address.

Letters addressed to initials or to fletitious names at the Poste Restante are not taken in, but are at once sent back to the writers.

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY POST

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY POST.

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY POST.

It is forbidden to forward by post any indecent or obscene print, painting, photograph, lithograph, engraving, book or card, or other article, or any letter, newspaper, publication, packet, or card having thereon any words, marks, or designs of an indecent, obscene, libellous, or grossly offensive character. Anything posted contrary to this prohibition will be stopped and sent up to the Returned Letter Office, London.

Postmasters are instructed not to receive any letter which there is good reason to believe contains anything likely to injure the contents of the mail bag, or to do bodily harm to any officer of the Post Office. If such a packet be posted without the Postmaster's knowledge, or if at any time before its dispatch he should discover any such packet, he is directed not to forward it, but to report the case, with the address of the packet, to the Secretary. The following are examples of the articles referred to:—

A glass bottle, or glass in any form; leeches, game, fish, meat, fruit, or vegetables; bladders or other vessels containing liquids; gunpowder, lucifer matches, or anything which is explosive or liable to sudden combustion; razors, scissors, needles, forks, or other sharp instruments.

MODES OF PREPAYMENT.

Inlandletters, newspapers, and book-packets cannot be prepaid in money, but must be prepaid by means of stamps, either adhesive or embossed or impressed. This rule applies also to registered letters.

Exceptions.—At the Chief and District Post Offices, and at the Charingcross and Lombard-street Post Offices in London, as well as at the Head Offices in Edinburgh and Dublin, letters and book-packets may, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., be prepaid in money, provided the amount be never less than £1, and that the letters and book-packets be tied in bundles representing a postage of 5s. each, with the addresses arranged in the same direction.

Letters to places abroad must be prepaid wholly in stamps.

Newspapers, book-packets, and sample-packets for places abroad can also be prepaid only by means of stamps; and in their case prepayment is always compulsory compusory.

British postage-stamps, though available for all letters, &c., going out of this country, are not, as a general rule, available for letters, &c., coming into it; the principal exception being in the case of letters posted by naval officers, marines, and seamen serving abroad, which, if posted in the ship's bag, must be prepaid by means of British postage-stamps.

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN.)

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is fourpence.

The fee chargeable for registration to places abroad will be found in the

The fee chargeable for registration to places abroad will be found in the British Postal Guide.

Every letter to be registered should be presented at the counter, and a receipt obtained for it, and should on no account be dropped into the letterbox. If, contrary to this rule, a letter marked "Registered" be dropped into the letter-box, it will, if directed to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies, be liable to a registration fee of Sd., instead of the ordinary fee of 4d.

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

All Stocks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Private Transfers may be effected at other times, providing the books are not closed, by paying 2s. 6d. for each Transfer. Tickets for preparing the Transfer of Stock must be given in at the Bank of England before one o'clock. Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 9s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, £1 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable. Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of decesse must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 5 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewy.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named. 16 are payable on April 5 and Uct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervene, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 2; for accepting, 9 to 3; for payment of dividends, 9 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays. Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom. Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co.," and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

Under the provisions of an Act passed in 1871, the following are the dividend days and periods of redemption of the various Stocks:—

The Bankers' Clearing-House, near the Post Office, Lombard-street, is the medium through which bankers obtain the amount of cheques and bills in their hands for collection from other bankers. Every bank in London and the country is represented by clearing bankers; and, as their agents send through the clearing-house draughts payable in the City and in the country, the amount passing through this channel is enormous.

CHILDREN AT ALL SEASONS.

THE rolling year of twelve varying months, commonly grouped into four reputed seasons, which are supposed in this country never to interfere with each other, brings a wonderful multitude of different experiences to the sensitive mind of youth. Childhood, fresh to the observation of the new sights and sounds, of the new scents and flavours, and the new exercise of its own bodily and mental powers, among the things of earth, advances considerably in knowledge of life during this annual revolution of surrounding nature. We can all remember, though many of us have endured the dulling and drying upeffects of half a century's life-wear, that in the changeful drying-up effects of half a century's life-wear, that in the changeful moods of infancy, the boyhood or girlhood that seems to us so far back, we used to meet every particular impression of the outer world, not with a passive tolerance, as we do in later age, but actively, eagerly, vehemently throwing our little souls into every incidental circumstance of the passing terrestrial show. As the marvellous procession swept by us, in sunshine or in shade of cloud or of night, in clear daylight or in the softer moonlight and starlight, all spoke to the childish mind. The trees which put on their ample robes of greenery to stand in the magnificent on their ample robes of greenery to stand in the magnificent pageant of Summer, and the diversified loveliness of a hundred kinds of flowers—all the different birds and insects we recognised, the thrush and the skylark, delightful songsters of the grove and of the sky—the bee, the ant, the butterfly, the worms and beetles, whose notions and habits we loved to watch—all the friendly inhabitants, animals or plants, of the field, the garden, the wood, the pond or river, and the great open sea, beside which no small part of our childnver, and the great open sea, deside which no small part of a charles hood was spent—these had a message for us. It will, perhaps, divert us a little, in these uncomfortable times of strife, anxiety, and disappointment at home and abroad, to look at the young people enjoying themselves, in several different scenes and employments, it is the Charles that delay over Almongoly in the Charles the charge that delay over Almongoly. in the pretty Coloured Pictures that adorn our Almanack. Let us first thank the artists, Messrs. H. R. Robertson, J. Morgan, A. Hunt, and F. Tayler, as well as Messrs. Leighton Brothers, the tasteful and skilful colour-printers, for their joint contributions to the pleasure of our readers in this publication. These gentlemen, of course, are fond of children, and understand the way in which those frank little hearts are disposed to make acquaintance with life by promptly acting up to its opportunities of innocent frolic.

The year, like the course of a life, has its tender infancy and season of fresh early growth, which we call Spring; and what can be more fitting, as represented in the picture called "Spring Garlands," than the association of a pair of happy little children, Garlands," than the association of a pair of happy little children, twining pretty wreaths of the flowers of the field, with the blessed advent of "ethereal mildness" that so gently, but irresistibly, summons all the genial forces of Nature from their long winter slumbers? Wake up now! says the sweet motherly voice of Spring, at first in a soft low whisper beside the cradle of her multitudinous and various offspring, which includes all forms of vegetable and animal life; wake up, all you dear children, every blade of grass, every root and seed, every bud of leaf or blossom, every germ of organised being, the beginning and the renewing powers of vitality that work in different stages of its development, from the egg and the grub to the perfect winged insect, the favourite of summer sunshine; let all that has any capacity of living the stage of th living awake and arise, for I am here, the kindly nurse of your innumerable lives, to keep with all of you the festival of our common gladness! And these young human creatures, too, are called by the voice of Spring in their happy little hearts, throbbing with pure blood from every vein through unwearied limbs in continual healthy play, to exult in all that is around them. Their gambols healthy play, to exult in all that is around them. Their gambols and merry shouts of laughter, with which just now they ran about the field, have yielded, with a slight sense of fatigue, to the temptations of a quieter pastime. Gathering some of the flowers of Spring, not only buttercups, cowslips, and daisies from amidst the greensward, but the wood anemone, the vetch, the lesser celandine, out of the copse or hedgerow, they twine pretty garlands to hang about their necks or to adorn their straw hats, an artless token of their simple joy. To be a witness of their joy is sweet indeed, though we know but too well that it cannot remain long with them, and even now, in these days of childhood. remain long with them, and even now, in these days of childhood remain long with them, and even now, in these days or childnood, they too often suffer the pangs of passionate sorrow. One is often reminded at such times, beholding their precocious fits of grief and despair, when dark clouds of naughty temper beset the infant mind, of Herrick's loving remonstrance with those "whimpering younglings" of nature, the primroses that seemed to weep from the drops of morning dew upon them. "Why do ye weep?" he asks these first horn darkings of the seeson. asks these first-born darlings of the season :-

Alas! ye have not known that shower Alas! ye have not known that shower
That mars a flower;
Nor felt the unkind
Breath of a blasting wind
Nor are ye worn with years,
Or warped as we,
Who think it strange to see
Such pretty flowers, like to orphans young,
Speaking by tears before ye have a tongue.

Let us hope that there will be no childish pet or quarrel, or any cause for shedding tears, in the holiday hours of these children.

One of the most characteristic features of rural life and business in spring-time is the shepherd's care to superintend the lambing of his flocks; and his assistant, the wonderfully clever, the admirably diligent and faithful dog, is worthy of our particular regard. A couple of these valuable helpers of mankind, sociably reposing on the moorland turf, and guarding their master's cap and staff in his absence, are figured in the Illustration we next refer to. The children would be delighted to come upon these strong playfellows, which they know to be gentle, and which are sure to greet them which they know to be gentle, and which are sura to greet them with a friendly wagging of tails, licking of hands, and frisking round them, preparing for a headlong scamper to the end of the meadow. We like to see a shepherd's dog, the strictest and most punctilious of servants in his appointed office, now and then relax his mind by indulging a little harmless fun.

The "broads" of Noriolk, and the "meres" of Cheshire, and similar pieces of still fresh water in different parts of England, are sometimes made the scene of an interesting local employment. It is customary, when the yearly growth of aquatic plants has reached a desirable stage, for the "Rush-gatherers" to put forth in a crazy old boat, two or three women or girls not unfrequently forming its crew, each armed with a sickle for cutting the tall clumps of rushes that crowd the shallows of the lake. These long smooth, tough and pliant stems of the plant, which preserve their string-like quality when dried, become the materials of a branch of industry not to be despised, the handicraft that supplies good durable seats, but soft withal, to the cheaper and lighter kind of chairs. It may also be applied to the fabrication of homely baskets or reticules, such as would do for carrying fruit home from the village market.

But one has seldom occasion to go there and buy fruit, if one happens to be the fortunate possessor of an orchard, with a garden of summer esculents, a grove productive in autumn of Pomona's wholesome bounty. The boy and girl whom we find engaged in the pleasant task of "Apple-Gathering," with a solemn-looking dog in attendance, have a fine time of it this bright August day. Tom has been invited to prove his agility in climbing the tree, which he has professioned as much to his agilt and appropriate the provider of the pr has performed as much to his own self-complacency as to Emma's has performed as much to his own seir-complacency as to Eminia's sisterly admiration. She has been sent out with him on purpose to obtain the needful quantity for a pudding or a pie, which her mother is preparing to concoct in their thrifty household kitchen. It is not forbidden to either of these youngsters, in payment for their exertions, to eat one, two, or three of the plump ripe fruit that Tom shakes down from the boughs above his airy perch; and they will have none the less appetite for dinner.

But a good little daughter, in her parents' cottage home, finds many other ways of making herself useful; and the "Little many other ways of making herself useful; and the "Little Woman," sitting there alone with steady resolution to get through her little job of peeling potatoes, is a praiseworthy example of domestic virtue in her own small way. We cannot say as much for Pussy, who looks on in shameless idleness, with uplitted tail and foot, quite ready for a sportive rush and scurry after the dropped scraps of paring, with which the tiled floor will soon be littered.

Our last Coloured Illustration is that of "A Cold Christmas Eve," and thereby hangs a tale :-

THE FRIGHT IN FOXDALE.

The Four Seasons had gone their annual round, one after another, with some jostling, and elbowing, and treading on each other's heels, or stepping back on each other's toes, as in the untimely frosts and snows that befel on several days of April, the cold blasts of wind chilling the fair bosom of May, and latterly, by way of compensation, the bright warm sunshine which led stern old November to forget himself, missing his accustomed fogs, and to mistake his chrysanthemums for the garden blossoms of June. Spring, and Summer, and Autumn, despite these accidental crosspurposes and mutual encroachments, had enjoyed their respective turns in the familiar procession of the year; and now came the turn of Winter, Sullen and sad, with all his rising train, Vapours, and clouds, and storms.

Vapours, and glouds, and storms.

Yet this blustering and frowning countenance of Winter is not usually prolonged through many days. There is a delightful serenity, an air of calm serenity, in the fine weather about Christmastime, which is often felt to be mild and soothing, as well as invigorating; and the soft low sunlight at noon sheds a touching grace upon the bare outline of leafless trees, with their fine tracery of boughs and twigs displayed against the clear sky; but when the snow has fallen, sheeting the ground with silver, and transmuting all exposed forms into the likeness of that fair metal, then old Winter puts on an aspect of exquisite beauty:

Fast falls a fleecy shower; the downy flakes Descending, and with never-ceasing lapse, Assimilate all objects. Earth receives Gladly the thickening mantle; and the green And tender blade, that feared the chilling blast, Escapes unhurt beneath so warm a veil.

It was four miles over Brendon-hill and down Foxdale, past the Waggon and Horses at the cross-roads, that Mary and Jenny had to carry little Alice, on the afternoon of December 24, accompanied, only by Skye. These names require a personal introduction but that is neither more nor less than to point to the Coloured Picture, and to mention that the elder girl is Mary, the donkey is

TURKISH IRREGULAR CAVALRY FOLLOWING UP THE RUSSIANS AFTER THE RETREAT FROM SEVIN. FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

Jenny, the little child is Alice, and the Skye terrier must of course be "Skye."

"Why, Ally," said Mary, "don't fall asleep, or you'll fall off Jenny."

This made Ally begin to cry, for the thought it would hurt her very much to fall on the white snow-covered ground; and she couldn't keep awake. Presently she stopped crying, and looked more sleepy than ever, perhaps from the benumbing cold.

"I must hold you up, poor little Ally," said the elder girl again, putting her arm round the child's waist so that its little body could rest upon her right shoulder, and the weary little head was propped up by Mary's own head, one large shawl overspreading propped up by Mary's own head, one large snawl overspreading both. Mary held a large basket in her right hand, which she con-trived to rest upon the donkey's side, and by which Ally was kept from a possible tumble over that way. If you look at the picture you will see how all this was arranged. Both the girls were you will see how an one was arranged. Both the girls were equally pleased; and the little one being four years of age, and the big one fourteen, there was room between them for sentiments of maternal protection on the one hand and infantine trust and gratitude on the other. Skye, for his part, expressed a sentiment of approval by giving two short barks and darting twice across the road before them. Jenny said nothing, but was apparently satisfied, as a conscientious donkey, that her responsibility for the safe carriage of little Alice was to be shared with somebody wiser than her irrational self.

They paced on slowly down the hill by Foxdale Woods, as the brief winter day closed in gathering gloom, the sun having dropped behind a western hill; but the remaining light, reflected from the snow was quite sufficient for the guidance of their feet.

Mary began to think of a serious conversation she had overheard that day between old Betsey, who lived next door, and Gubbins, the roadside hedge-trimmer, who had just walked over from Foxdale.

It was all about highway robbers.
"There was a traveller last Tuesday week," said Gubbins, "about half-past four in the afternoon, when he come past the new clearing up at the north end of the wood, heard a queer sort of noise, and it gave him a sort of a start like, and he thought as how he just got sight of a something that jumped out of the wood, and he yelled out 'Thieves and Murder!' and galloped down as fast as his mare could carry him, but he heard the rogues galloping down after him, and he heard their shouts, and so he never stopped till he got safe to the Waggon and Horses; and I was in the tap-room, as it might happen, just when he come in; and he ordered a glass of hot brandy and water for himself, for he was all in a cold sweat; but me and Joe Diggins, the gentleman stood us a quart of beer, and I paid for a screw of backy."

Mary could not prevent her mind from running upon this terrible Mary could not prevent her mind from running upon this terrible adventure while passing the very spot where the mercless robbers, who were sure to be murderers as well, chased that gentleman, for his money or his life, all the way down the hill. "They was seen again," old Gubbins had further said, "last Friday as ever was, two mile on the road, walking as bold as brass in the middle of it, a little after dark should come on, and one was a tall man in black velveteen, all black hair over his face, with a billycock hat and a hig stick; and the other was a bentile to the property of the star was a bentile to the big stick; and the other was a shortish man in a smock frock, with a blue cap on his head and reddish whiskers, and he a blue cap on his head and reddish whiskers, and he carried a sort of a pike, one of them there lances what the Cossacks has; and there was the barrels of two pistols sticking out of the black man's velveteen coat-pocket. And I've heard say that his name is Hampshire Jack, and that he is Dick Turpin's nevvy or grandson."

"Hah! Oh My Gracious! Whatever is That?" suddenly exclaimed our poor Marry, as she heard a fierce panting or blowing sound on the other side of a low fence close to her at the edge of the road next the wood; and it was instantly followed by a great scrambling of feet, and something large and dark, like a monstrous giant's back, started up above the top of the fence, which seemed to heave and lift as though it would be torn away, and let loose the dreadful enemy on the open road.

The terrified girl, in the panic of a bewildered imagination, fancied that a gang of malefactors, lying there in ambush, were about to spring forth and work the direct deeds of slaughter and rapine upon herself and her precious charge. She had but rapine upon herself and her precious charge. She had but twopence halfpenny, and would have to pay threehalfpence at the turnpike gate for Jenny to pass. But she knew they would demand her money or her life, and when they had taken her money, they would kill little Ally; the red man, of course, would stick the baby on the point of his lance; and the black man would drag Mary into the wood, and there cut off her head.

It was in a single moment that all these frightful experiences, as certain and strong as any in her past life, were mentally impressed on the unhappy maic's excited consciousness, and shriek after shriek of agonised terror broke from her lips, as she tore at the shriek of agonised terror broke from her hps, as she tore at the donkey's reins, and kicked at its legs, and beat its hind-quarters with her basket, till it was frightened as much as Mary herself, and dashed off in a mad donkey's gallop down the hill, while the crying of little Ally, and the yelping of Skye, increased this dreadful hubbub that went through Foxdale at the rate of seven or eight miles an hour. Little Ally was thrown off in another moment, but fell with the big woollen shawl around her into a great soft heap of snow, from which Mary picked her up, letting go the donkey, and clasped the child in her own arms, still running as fast as she could. Behind them came the noise of pursuing feet, and the loud voices of their foes, in speech unknown, either threatening or commanding them to stop.

Near the bottom of the hill, at the corner of Sir William Palliser's park wall, there is a bend of the road, with a ditch and pool at the opposite side, and a bit of grass upon which stand three or four ash-trees and some hazel-bushes. The Waggon and Horses public-house lies about two hundred yards farther down the road, with the brick wall of the park all the way, quite in a straight line down, so you can see the public-house and the turn-pike-gate from the corner above.

When Jenny, the foremost of the flying party, came abreast of the park wall, it occurred to her asinine intelligence that probably there was no reason for her to gallop any further. stopped, and turned quietly aside to the grassy plot beside the water under the shivering naked trees; while Mary, with Alice in her arms, almost sinking from faintness, but striving not to relax her speed, ran staggering along the road. The poor girl was quite The poor girl was quite exhausted, and could no longer cry aloud.

Turning round the park wall corner, Mary felt herself near the friendly houses in the valley below; but there was no sign of any person on the road which lay between her and them. If she were caught there by the enemy, overtaken while out of sight and hearing from the houses, the long high wall forbade any possible escape or attempt to hide herself. She saw where Jenny had left escape or attempt to hide herself. She saw where Jenny had left the road, amongst the bushes and brambles that formed a thick undergrowth around the trees; and she perceived a gap in the hedge of the adjoining field. There would be the place to hide, before her merciless hunters could see her movements beyond the corner, and when they had passed she would creep with little Ally down to the inn, having meantime recovered her breath and strength. With this intention, Mary hurried across to the farthest clump of brambles and popped herself into the ditch behind its shelter; there was no water, or even ice, but a soft bed of snow. The dog missed her for a moment, but presently tracked her footsteps and came to lie quietly by her side.

She listened for the approach of her enemies, but neither footsteps nor voices could be heard. There was a profound silence, as the shades of night drew closer over that lonely scene, and the stars appeared in the sky. At length she perceived, after an anxious period of suspense, that somebody was coming the other way, up the hill from the Waggon and Horses. Footsteps and a voice were audible enough, and they were not those of a desperate highway robber, but of a harmless drunkard, who came up singing to himself,

It's my delight, of a shiny night, in the season off the year

Mary had never before found her own delight in that foolish poacher's song, but now it came to her as a signal of relief from deadly terror. At the nearer approach of Joe Diggins—for he it was-carrying inside his moleskin waistcoat three quarts of fourpenny ale, she ventured to emerge from her covert and appeal to his manly protection.

"What, lass!" bawled the tipsy honest fellow. "Whoy, whose lass be yow? Whattidu thar? Awboddy bin harting yow? What be'ee feered ot?" By all which he meant to inquire her name and parentage and abode; to ask her motive for taking the state of the state o refuge in that place of concealment; and to assure her of his championship if she were alarmed by fear of ill-usage.

These were matters that certainly needed explanation, and Mary, trembling and stammering, tried to make him understand that she believed there were some robbers lurking in the wood, and she had believed there were some robbers turking in the wood, and she had heard and seen what made her think herself almost caught by them. Joe Diggins scratched his head, and then responded, endeavouring to flourish his stick, "Robbers! nar moind, lass! Aw'm a mon for they! Here's a whack toom!" He suited the action to the word, by aiming a tremendous "whack" at the nearest tree, but, missing its trunk, fell heavily against it, knocking his own head.

This was all the belly Mary could have from Joe Diggins so she

This was all the help Mary could hope from Joe Diggins, so she began to reflect that, since he had come safely up the hill in such a beery condition, she might run no great danger in walking steadily down to the public-house. Taking up little Alice once more, and calling to Skye, she bade no farewell to Joe, but asked him to stop there and mind her donkey a few minutes. He assented with a stupid nod, and was lying in the snow fast asleep before Mary had gone a hundred paces.

The middle finisht characteristics.

The ruddy firelight shone cheerfully from the window of the roadside inn, and the open door gave hospitable admittance to Mary when she arrived. The landlady at the bar was just then talking when she arrived. The landlady at the bar was just then talking with a customer, whose pot and pipe were on the counter, and by whose voice, though his back was turned to the door, Mary knew him before she entered. It was no other than Gubbins, the hedger and ditcher, the idle repeater of a silly and mischievous story, which had cost her, for half an hour, the sharp pangs of dire distress on that cold Christmas Eve. As for the noises and startling movements, imperfectly perceived in her confusion of mind, they were due to a strayed bullock, which had lain under the sheltering fence, and which was driven into the road by a couple of herd-boys, making a good deal of clamour at the top of Foxdale.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES IN THE YEAR 1878.

JANUARY.

JANUARY.

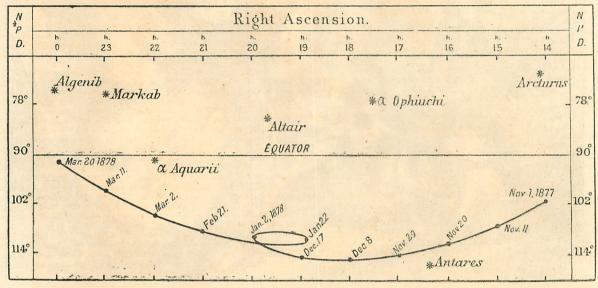

The Moon is near Jupiter on the 3rd; but, it being the day of New Moon, both are near the Sun. She is near Mercury on the 4th, near Venus during the evening hours of the 7th, Saturn during the evening hours of the 8th, Mars during the evening hours of the 11th, and near both Mercury and Jupiter on the last day, but on the 31st the Moon is visible only a short time before sunrise. Her phases or times of change are:

VENUS sets on the 10th at 7h. 3m. p.m., or 2h. 1m. after sunset; on the 20th at 5h. 58m. p.m., or 37 minutes after the Sun; on the 23rd the planet and Sun set together, and from this day till December 6 Venus sets in daylight. She rises at about sunrise on the 7th, at 7h. 13m. a.m., or 12 minutes before the Sun, on the 10th; at 6h. 14m. a.m., or 53 minutes before sunrise, on the 20th, and at 5h. 36m. a.m. on the last day. She is due south on the 1st at 1h. 53m. p.m., on the 14th at 6h. 44m. p.m., and on the last day 11h. 17m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 4th, at her least distance from the Sun on the 7th, and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 21st.

Mars sets on the 1st at 0h. 18m. a.m., on the 11th at 0h. 14m. a.m., on the 21st at 0h. 11m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 0h. 9m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 8m. p.m., on the 14th at 4h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day at 4h. 28m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 6h. 43m. a.m., or 58 minutes before sunrise; on the 10th at 6h. 15m. a.m., or 1h. 10m. before the Sun; and on the 20th at 5h. 41m. a.m., or 1h. 26m. before the Sun; and on the last day at 5h. 16m. a.m., or 1h. 34m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 47m. a.m., on the 14th at 10h. 8m. a.m., and on the last day at 5h. 25m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the last day.

SATURN is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 8h. 4m. p.m., on the 10th at 7h. 35m. p.m., or 2h. 33m. after sunset; on the 20th at 7h. 1m. p.m., or 1h. 40m. after sunset; and on the last day at 6h. 35m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 33m. p.m., on the 14th at 1h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 59m. p.m.

PATH OF MERCURY FROM JULY 5, 1878, TO NOVEMBER 22, 1878.

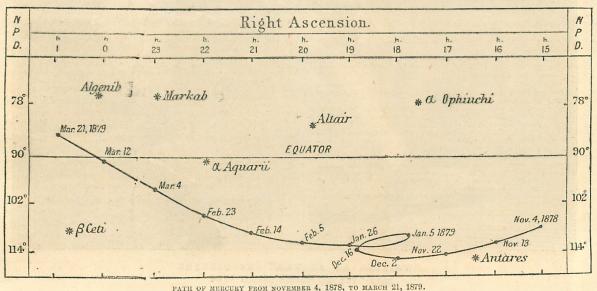

MARCH.

The Moon is near both Mercury and Venus on the 2nd. She is near and to the left of Saturn on the evening of the 5th, she is near Mars during the evening hours of the 9th and 10th, being a little to the right of the planet on the 9th, and at a greater distance to the left on the 10th; she is near Jupiter during the mornings of the 27th and 28th, and near Venus on the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the 4th at 18 minutes after 3h. in the morning. First Quarter , 12th ,, 1 ,, 4 ,, morning. Full Moon ,, 18th ,, 7 ,, 9 ,, afternoon. Last Quarter ,, 25th ,, 50 ,, 4 ,, afternoon. She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 18th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 4th, and again on the afternoon of the last day.

Mercury sets on the 1st 52 minutes after sunset, on the 6th he sets at nearly the same time as the sun, and from this day till July 3 he sets in day-light. On the 6th he rises at about the time of sunrise, and on this day will pass over the Sun's disc, the time of external contact at ingress is 3h. 12m. p.m.; the internal contact at ingress is at 3h. 16m. p.m.; the least distance of centres, 4 min. 47 sec., will be at 7h. 0m. p.m.; the internal contact at egress is at 10h. 45m. p.m., and the external contact at egress is at 10h. 45m. p.m. Mercury rises on the 16th at 3h. 52m. a.m., or 18 minutes before sunrise; on the 21st at 3h. 37m. a.m., or 26 minutes before the Sun; on the 26th at 3h. 23m. a.m., or 34 minutes before the Sun; and on the last day at 3h. 11m. a.m., or 41 minutes before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 37th, a.m., or 14 minutes before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 37th, attionary among the stars (see diagram) on the 19th, and again near the Moon on the 30th.

Venus is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 3h. 14m. a.m., or 1h. 21m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 2h. 55m. a.m., or 1h. 22m. before the Sun; on the 1st at 3h. 37m. a.m., or 1h. 28m. before the Sun. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 57m. a.m., or 1h. 32m. before the Sun. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 57m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 57m. a.m., on the 21st at 9h. 57m. a.m., on the 25th, and on the last day at 49h. 47m. a.m. She is at her greatest western elongation (46 deg. 7 min.) on the 27d, near Saturn on the 6th, near the Moon on the 28th, and at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 30th.

Mars is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h. 36m. p.m., on the 11th at 11h. 24m. p.m., on the 21st at 11h. 9m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 53m. p.m., or 2h. 50m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 10m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 53m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 2h. 34m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th.

JUPITER rises on the 1st at 1h. 37m. a.m., on the 11th at 1h. 0m. a.m., on the 21st at 0h. 22m. a.m., and on the 30th at 11h. 43m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 59m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 7m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 5m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 25th.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 3h. 30m. a.m., or 1h. 5m. before the Sun; which interval gradually increases to 1h. 25m. by the 11th, to 1h. 48m. by the 21st, and to 2h. 15m. by the last day, the planet rising on this day at 1h. 38m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 22m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 32m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 34m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 26th.

Moon on the 26th.

The Moon is very near Mars during the evening hours of the 3rd, she is near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 18th, near Saturn during the morning hours of the 23rd, she is near Venus during the morning hours of the 27th, and near Mercury on the last day. Her phases or times of change

The first will be an Annular Eclipse of the Sun on Feb. 2, invisible from Europe.

The Eclipse begins on the Earth generally at 56 minutes after 5 o'clock in the morning, Greenwich mean time, in longitude, 20 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 54 deg. S.

The Certral Eclipse begins at 38 minutes after 7h. a.m., n ongitude 103 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 73 deg. S.

The Central Eclipse ends at 17 minutes after 9h. a.m., in longitude 149½ deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 41 deg. S; and the Eclipse ends at 1 minute to 11h. a.m., in longitude 112½ deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 12½ deg. S.

12½ deg. S. The second is a Partial Eclipse of the Moon on Feb. 17, invisible from England.

The Eclipse begins at 43 minutes after 9h. a.m., Greenwich mean time; the middle of the Eclipse will be at 11 minutes after 11h. a.m.; and the Eclipse will end at 39 minutes after noon, Greenwich mean time.

At the time of the beginning of this Eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 143\(\frac{1}{2}\) deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 12 deg. N.; at the time of the middle of the eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude west of Greenwich will be 164\(\frac{1}{2}\) deg., and latitude 11\(\frac{1}{2}\) deg. N.; and at the end of the eclipse the Moon will be directly overhead, at a place whose longitude is 174\(\frac{1}{2}\) deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 11 deg. N. At the time of greatest phase about four fifths of the Moon's diameter will be obscured.

The third of the year, will be a Total Eclipse of the Sun on July 29, invisible from Europe.

It begins on the Earth generally in longitude 144\square deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 41\frac{1}{4} deg. N., at 18 minutes after 7h. p.m. in Greenwich mean and latitude 414 deg. N., at 18 minutes after 7h. p.m. in Greenwich mean time.
